

Éditions et presses
universitaires de Reims
Nouveauté 2008

New Perspectives on Andrew Marvell

Sous la direction de Gilles Sambras

194 pages – ISBN 897-2-915271-21-8 – 19 € TTC

Andrew Marvell remains one of the most important and enigmatic figures of the seventeenth-century. A poet and a politician, he stands at the intriguing intersection of literature and politics and as such, he has attracted the interest of both literary critics and historians. The essays collected in this volume reflect the variety and vivacity of Marvellian study. Examining the poetical and political works, the English and the Latin poems, these essays contribute to establishing Marvell's reputation as a man of his time, concerned with science, education, politics and esthetics. Thus, beyond providing the reader with a better and deeper understanding of the poet and the man, they offer an insight into a particularly complex and fascinating period of English history. In the process, one is led to understand that Marvell is also a man for our time, not just because of the timeless charm of his poetry but also because his more "prosaic" preoccupations have unceasingly haunted our modernity.

The essays in this volume were presented during the International Andrew Marvell Conference held in Rheims in May, 2005.

Publication du CIRLLLEP (Centre interdisciplinaire de recherches sur les langues, les littératures, la lecture et l'élaboration de la pensée) Université de Reims Champagne-Ardenne commander l'ouvrage :

- sur Internet : <http://www.lcdpu.fr>
- chez votre libraire

Éditions et presses universitaires
de Reims

Bibliothèque Robert de Sorbon
Av. François-Mauriac 51095 Reims cedex
tél. : 03.26.91.87.93 fax : 03.26.91.39.30 presses.universitaires@univ-reims.fr

Diffusion aux libraires

CID Diffusion

131, bd Saint-Michel
75 005 Paris

fax commandes :01 40 51 02 80