It has a privileged position right at the heart of Europe :

- Reims by TGV (high speed train):
 - > 45 minutes from Paris Gare de l'Est
 - > 30 minutes from Charles de Gaulle airport
- It is located at the crossroads of:
 - > Germany (2h30 by car)
 - > Belgium (1h30 by car)
 - > Luxembourg (2h30 by car)

The area where the University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne is located is world famous for its vineyards and its production of Champagne. Beyond the hilly landscapes of the Aube and Haute-Marne, immense Champagne plains of the Marne, the Ardennes mountains and the vineyards of the Montagne de Reims regional nature park, the region is home to beautiful historic towns and art.

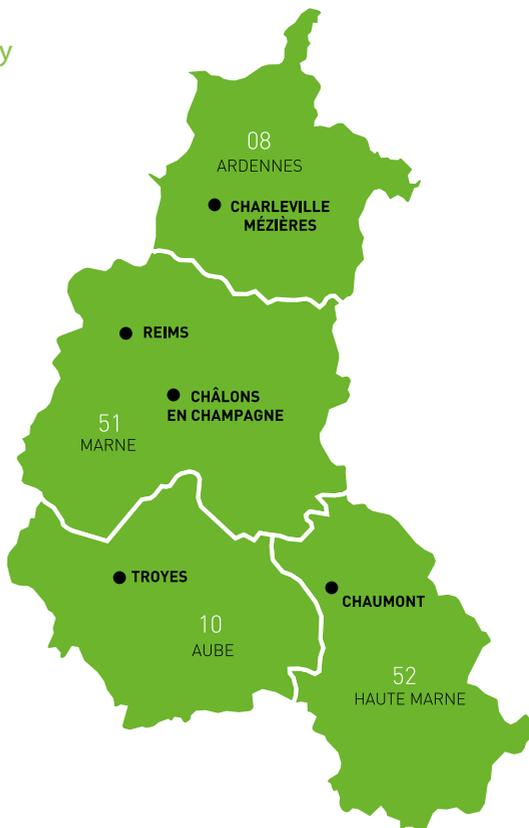

The Champagne hillsides, houses and cellars are a Unesco world heritage site.

> A multi-site university

The University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne is one of 5 universities in the Grand-Est region. URCA is a multi-disciplinary university based on five sites, i.e. Reims (the main site), Troyes (second in terms of recruitment), Charleville-Mézières, Châlons en Champagne and Chaumont.

• REIMS

With approximately 185,000 inhabitants, Reims, called the «city of coronations» or «city of kings», is the largest city in the former Champagne-Ardenne region and the twelfth biggest city in France in terms of population. It has exceptional historical and artistic heritage (Notre-Dame cathedral, the Saint-Rémi basilica and the Palais du Tau) but it is also a university and dynamic student city. Several internationally renowned festivals and events, including the Magnifique Society, the Reims Scène d'Europe theatre festival and the Flâneries Musicales in the summer, take place in Reims each year. Reims had nearly 7.5 million visitors in 2023.

• TROYES

Another important university site, which stands out with its medieval atmosphere thanks to its houses built in the 16th century with timber frames and pastel-coloured facades. Troyes was named City of Art and History by the National Committee of Cities and Lands of Art and History.

• CHARLEVILLE-MEZIERES

The birthplace of the famous poet Arthur Rimbaud is 10 kilometres from the Belgian border and has 3 campuses of the University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne. Every two years it is home to the international festival of puppet theatre and every year the eco-festival: Le cabaret vert.

• CHALONS-EN-CHAMPAGNE

Châlons-en-Champagne is the prefecture in the Marne département. URCA has 2 separate training centres in Châlons-en-Champagne: ESPE, Bd Victor Hugo (historic building) and IUT, rue de la Chaussée du Port.

• CHAUMONT

Chaumont is the prefecture in Haute-Marne and is located at the crossroads of major routes between the North of Europe and the Mediterranean and between the Ile de France and Switzerland.

ORGANISATION OF STUDIES

● Study scheme - Degrees

Professional integration

> LMD AND ECTS

As part of standardising studies in the European Higher Education Area, the structure of courses is generally organised around the following academic degrees:

- LICENCE (a 3-year degree or 6 semesters)
- MASTER'S DEGREES (a 5-year degree or 10 semesters)
- DOCTORAL DEGREES (an 8-year degree or 16 semesters)

ECTS (European Credit Transfer System) applies to the majority of curricula. Each degree has a total amount of ECTS: 180 ECTS for a degree, 240 ECTS for a Master's 1 degree and 300 ECTS for a Master's 2 degree (This amount is made up 30 ECTS per semester, or 60 ECTS per year.)

> TEACHING FORMATS

Teaching for Licence (degrees) and Master's degrees are organised in the form of lectures (Cours Magistraux / CM) and tutorials and practical work (Travaux Dirigés (TD) and Travaux Pratiques (TP)). The lectures are focused on the theory. During the tutorials and practical work, students are divided into sub-groups to look at what has been studied in lectures in more detail and discuss it with the teacher. You must register in a sub-group when you arrive in order to be able to attend tutorials. All students enrolled for lectures (CM) must also go to tutorials (TD).

All LMD training courses are grouped into areas. URCA has four areas:

- ARTS, LITERATURE, LANGUAGES;
- HUMAN AND SOCIAL SCIENCES;
- LAW, ECONOMICS, MANAGEMENT;
- SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, HEALTH;

Each field is sub-divided into specialised areas. There are degrees where you can choose the course (in depth with specialisation). At Master's level, you must always choose a course

Diplomas are made up of compulsory, optional or free teaching units (UE), which are themselves usually divided into constituent elements (EC) which correspond to a weekly lesson for one semester. Each EC and / or UE is assigned a number of credits (ECTS).

> Access to a Master's 1 degree is done on the basis of a selection after obtaining a licence (degree).

> Access to a Master 2 degree after obtaining the Master's 1 degree

👁 For Master's level application procedures, contact academic affairs

- You can get the schedule of lessons from academic affairs
- The language used in teaching is French. Minimum B2 level is required

> EXAMS

VISA / RESIDENCE PERMIT

If you do not hold citizenship in any of the 31 countries within the European Economic Area (EEA), Andorra, Monaco, Switzerland, San Marino, or the Vatican:

To enter and stay in France for more than 3 months, foreign students are required to obtain a long-stay visa (D type). This visa is issued by the French consular authorities. The application should be submitted to the French Consulate or Embassy in your country of residence at least 3 months before departure.

To obtain your visa, you will need to provide the following documents:

- Proof of admission or preliminary enrollment at URCA
- Proof of resources (the minimum amount of financial resources needed is set by each French Embassy)
- Valid passport and proof of accommodation.

 Students outside the European Economic Area (EEA) who have obtained a study visa must apply for a residence permit from the sub-prefecture of the département where their university site is located.

The duration of validity for this temporary residence permit is linked to the validity of the passport and cannot exceed the duration of studies. It is initially valid for up to one year, with the possibility of renewal. Upon their arrival, concerned students must complete a residence permit application, which is then forwarded to the Office for Foreigners at the Marne sub-prefecture.

This procedure is no longer necessary for students who have a new long-stay visa - residence permit (VLS - TS). Holders of this type of visa must complete a certain number of formalities with the OFII (French Office of Immigration and Integration).

On the website of Campus France, you will find all the detailed information on the enrollment application and visas or residence permits:

> TUITION FEES

Tuition fees are regulated each year. In addition to tuition fees which make it possible to enroll at our institution, students doing initial training will pay a student life and campus contribution (CVEC) to CROUS.

From the start of the 2019 academic year, non-European students who are enrolling for the first time in a higher education programme at university in France will have to pay annual tuition fees: €2,770 for a licence (degree) and €3,770 for a master's degree.

URCA has set up a partial exemption system which enables you to get the same tuition fees as European students since 2023.

● HOW TO PAY TUITION FEES?

Payment of tuition fees must be made on the day of your enrollment by bank or postal cheque, bank card (depending on the tuition), money order or in cash.

> STUDENT LIFE AND CAMPUS CONTRIBUTION

The student life and campus contribution (CVEC) is a contribution intended to promote the reception and the social, health, cultural and sports assistance of students and to support health prevention and education initiatives. Students will have to pay this contribution to CROUS.

For more information on CVEC :

📡 <https://cvec.etudiant.gouv.fr/>

This annual contribution will be €100 for all students.

Regardless of your status, you must visit the CROUS website to obtain a CVEC code, which is required for university enrollment.

ONLY 4 TYPES OF STUDENTS ARE EXEMPT

- Grant holders based on social criteria (and grants paid by the regions for students on paramedical, health and social courses) or beneficiaries of an annual allowance granted as specific annual grants
- Students with refugee status
- Students who have subsidiary protection
- Asylum seekers

INDIVIDUALS EXEMPT OF CVEC PAYMENT

- Interns/trainees pursuing Continuing education (when the internship/training is funded by an employer or a collecting organisation)

Students participating in an international exchange program in France (during a period of study mobility in France as part of an agreement between your home institution and a French higher education institution).

The CVEC code will be provided upon receipt of confirmation of CVEC payment for students or upon confirmation of exemption from CVEC for exempted students.

ACCOMMODATION

> ACCOMMODATION AT CROUS

University residence halls, commonly known as CROUS residences, are overseen by Regional Student Housing Centers (CROUS).

This option offers the most affordable student housing.

These residences primarily cater to students with limited financial resources. Numerous residences are situated across various districts of Reims, Troyes, Châlons-en-Champagne, and Charleville-Mézières.

You can access a map of the residence halls along with descriptions of each on:

 www.crous-reims.fr/logements/cartes-des-residences/

FOR NON-EXCHANGE INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

STEP 1

You must first enroll at the University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne.

STEP 2

Follow the instructions on the website:

 www.crous-reims.fr/logements

To view and request accommodation through CROUS: complete all the steps and look carefully at the answers you receive by e-mail.

 To secure accommodation, you need a resident guarantor from the European Union who will complete the joint and several guarantee. If you lack a guarantor, you can obtain a free rental guarantee through Visale at:

 www.visale.fr.

- If there is an accommodation offer, you will have to pay a reservation fee corresponding to a security deposit on a secure website.
- You may also consider accommodation options where you reside with private individuals, accessible through the website:

 www.lokaviz.fr

FOR EXCHANGE STUDENTS (ERASMUS+, ETC.)

STEP 1

You must enroll at the University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne.

STEP 2

Follow the instructions on the website:

 www.crous-reims.fr/logements

To view and request accommodation through CROUS: Complete all the steps and read carefully the answers you would receive by e-mail.

 For students at the University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne, the DREDI of URCA notifies CROUS about students applying for accommodation. CROUS then sends an accommodation application to complete (do not send it a second time if you have already done it yourself).

- Sending the application does not mean that you will surely have accommodation. You need to wait for a reservation certificate. This document specifies the name and contact details of the residence in which you are staying.

To access accommodation, you must have a resident guarantor from the European Union who will fill in the joint and several guarantee. If you don't have a guarantor, get a free rental guarantee with Visale on www.visale.fr

- Once you have received this document, contact the residence to set the terms of reception (payment and formalities on arrival).
- If your application is complete and accommodation is available, you will receive confirmation of the reservation that will be useful if you have to prove you have a residence to obtain a visa.

DOCUMENTS TO PROVIDE UPON YOUR ARRIVAL IN YOUR UNIVERSITY ROOM:

- A copy of the student card from your home university
- passport or identity card for Europeans
- 2 passport photos
- A deposit with RIB (bank details)
- The home insurance certificate (before receiving the key to your room, you must take out home insurance).

> OTHER ACCOMMODATION OPTION

PRIVATE STUDENT RESIDENCES

Numerous private student residences welcome foreign students. Rent for a room or apartment is typically higher than in CROUS university halls of residence due to the collective services included in the rental agreement, such as laundry, internet, gym access, etc. These residences provide well-appointed furnished rooms or studios, which can serve as a temporary or longer-term solution, depending on your budget.

You can explore a wide range of accommodation options in Reims at:

 www.reims-tourisme.com/hebergements

 The MGEL has set up an agreement with the URCA and has 3 residences in Reims (Laudine, Quai 207 and Les Bulles) which can accommodate nearly 600 students each year.

More information on: www.mgellogement.fr/residences-etudiantes/index-REIMS.php

PRIVATE ROOMS AND APARTMENTS

- If you are unable to secure student accommodation through CROUS or a place in a university dormitory, you can explore options in the private sector. This may involve renting from a private individual or through a real estate agency. Renting directly from a private landlord by contacting owners online, through classified ads, or via a real estate agency could be a suitable option. Various websites aggregate listings for apartments or studios available for rent from private owners, as well as flat-sharing opportunities (renting with multiple occupants in an apartment). This method is widely used in France to find long-term housing solutions.
- Most private landlords typically prefer to meet prospective tenants in person, making it advisable to schedule visits once you arrive in France. You can reach out to them via email or phone to arrange an appointment and visit the chosen apartment or studio.
- Co-renting, often favored by international students, can be a beneficial option. In this arrangement, you'll share accommodation with other local or international students. The advantages include developing your adaptability skills, accessing larger living spaces, splitting costs, and expanding your social circle by meeting new people.

STUDENT ACCOMMODATION AT SOMEONE'S HOME

- Staying with a host family for student accommodation offers a practical and cost-effective solution, as well as an ideal opportunity to practice your French. Typically, this involves a private room within a house or apartment.
- Certain host families provide student accommodation in exchange for services, with modest or even free rent. To be eligible, you may be required to perform various tasks such as housework, childcare, and other responsibilities.
- Intergenerational student accommodation, organized by associations, offers the opportunity to rent a room in the home of an elderly person at a reduced rate. In exchange, you are expected to spend a few hours each week keeping your host company.

ARRIVING IN REIMS WITHOUT ACCOMMODATION

- If necessary, during the first few days after your arrival, the international residence center in Reims can serve as an affordable alternative.

ATLAS DU LOGEMENT

Le Grand Reims and Ardenne Métropole offer a housing atlas which lists all the housing possibilities in the different university towns:

> ACCOMMODATION ASSISTANCE

Accommodation expenses often constitute the largest portion of a budget. To ensure access to accommodation for all, France has established a housing assistance system. These grants are administered by the Caisse d'Allocation Familiale (family benefits office).

 www.caf.fr

Depending on your rented accommodation type, income, and household composition, you may be eligible to apply to the CAF for one of the three housing benefits available under this program.

1/ CUSTOMIZED HOUSING ASSISTANCE (APL)

Customized Housing Assistance (Aide Personnalisée au Logement or APL) is available for individuals renting «subsidized» accommodation, where the landlord has entered into an agreement with the state regarding rent adjustments, comfort standards, etc. This can apply to both furnished and unfurnished apartments or studios. To determine if your accommodation qualifies, you should contact your landlord.

2/ FAMILY HOUSING ALLOWANCE (ALF)

The Family Housing Allowance (Allocation de Logement à caractère Familial or ALF) is designed for individuals who do not qualify for APL and who:

- have children (born or about to be born) or one or more other dependants
- or have been married for less than 5 years (the marriage must have taken place before the 40th birthday of each spouse)

3/ SOCIAL HOUSING ALLOWANCE (ALS)

The Social Housing Allowance (Allocation de Logement Social or ALS) is available to individuals who do not qualify for APL or ALF. It is frequently awarded to students and can cover various types of accommodation, including a room in a private home or university hall of residence, a studio, an apartment, or a house.

Housing benefits are paid under income conditions and based on the make-up of your home. In any case, your main residence must be located in France.

You can simulate the amount of your Accommodation Assistance on the CAF's website.

 <https://wwwd.caf.fr/wps/portal/caffr/aidesetservices/lesservicesenligne/estimervosdroits/lelogement>

Requests for accommodation allowance must be made to the CAF using the online form

> ACCOMMODATION - PRACTICAL INFORMATION

THIRD-PARTY LIABILITY

In France, individuals who cause damage, whether through negligence or misconduct, are legally obligated to compensate the victim. You may also be held responsible for damage caused by individuals, animals, or objects under your care. To ensure that compensating victims does not directly fall on you, it's necessary to have previously obtained «third-party liability coverage» (French: garantie responsabilité civile) from an insurer or mutual insurance company. It's worth noting that some insurance policies, especially home insurance, already include third-party liability coverage. If you are not already covered, you must acquire a third-party liability insurance policy from a private insurance provider.

HOME INSURANCE

Depending on the type of accommodation you've selected, a multi-risk household insurance policy (French: assurance multirisques habitation) will be necessary. This insurance is compulsory and allows you to protect against various risks that may affect your home, such as fire or water damage. It can be obtained from a mutual insurance company, a bank, or a private insurer, and must be provided to the landlord when you move into the property.

NOTICE

Remember to adhere to the notice periods (French: délais de préavis) when vacating your apartment!

If you reside in a CROUS university hall of residence, you must provide notice one month before your departure date.

GUARANTOR

Also referred to as «Deposit from a third party» (French: Caution d'un tiers), the guarantor (French: garant) is an individual or entity who provides a guarantee and agrees to pay the rent on behalf of the tenant if the tenant fails to do so.

Typically, landlords require the guarantor to be a resident of the European Union with a monthly income at least three times the rent amount. However, this requirement can be negotiated with the landlord if your net monthly salary exceeds three times the rent excluding charges. If you do not have a guarantor and are under 30 years old, you can obtain the VISALE guarantee.

VISALE

The Visale rental deposit is a deposit provided by Action Logement to a tenant, covering the rent and rental charges for the primary residence in the event of non-payment.

📶 www.visale.fr

INVENTORY

Upon departure, you must also conduct an inventory (fr. 'État des lieux') to assess any damage to the apartment in the presence of the owner.

If damage is found, the owner will utilize the deposit to cover repair expenses; if no damage is identified, the deposit will be refunded. This document, signed by both the owner and the tenant, details the condition of the apartment room by room at the time of moving in (initial inventory).

 You should document any issues noticed (such as the condition of floors, ceiling, letterbox, heating, taps, and other amenities).

If any defects are discovered after the inventory, notify the landlord via registered mail with acknowledgment of receipt within a few days of moving in (within 21 days).

Upon leaving the property, an inventory is conducted in the presence of both the owner and the tenant to assess any damage to the apartment. If damage is found, the owner may use the deposit to cover repair costs; if no damage is noted, the deposit is returned to the tenant.

THE SECURITY DEPOSIT

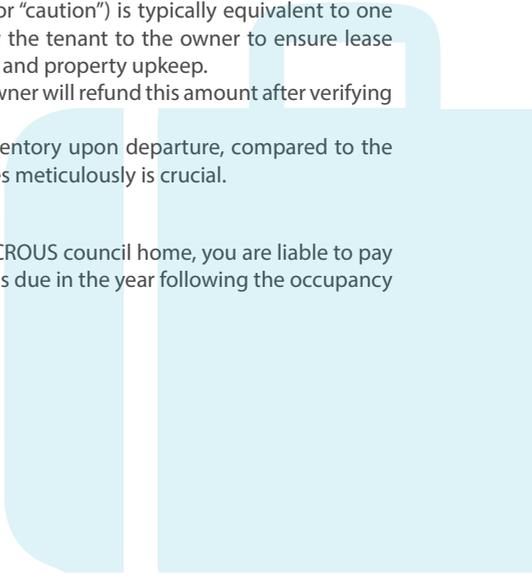

The security deposit (fr. "dépôt de garantie" or "caution") is typically equivalent to one month's rent without charges and is paid by the tenant to the owner to ensure lease compliance, including regular rent payments and property upkeep.

Within two months of the lease ending, the owner will refund this amount after verifying the property's condition.

Any damage will be assessed during the inventory upon departure, compared to the initial inventory. Conducting these inventories meticulously is crucial.

RESIDENCE TAX

If you reside in private accommodation or a CROUS council home, you are liable to pay residence tax (fr. 'Taxe d'habitation'). This tax is due in the year following the occupancy

HEALTH AND SOCIAL SECURITY COVER

> WHAT IS SÉCURITÉ SOCIALE?

In France, Sécurité Sociale is the social security institution responsible for reimbursing a portion of healthcare expenses. The department overseeing our area is managed by the Caisse Primaire d'Assurance Maladie (CPAM).

For more information:

www.ameli.fr/marne/assure/droits-demarches/etudes-emploi-retraite/etudiant/vous-venez-etudier-en-france

FOR EUROPEAN STUDENTS

If you are a national of a European Union or European Economic Area member state, you can obtain the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC), known as Carte Européenne d'Assurance Maladie (CEAM) in French. This card allows you to access public healthcare services in France, including visits to doctors, pharmacies, hospitals, or free clinics. Any healthcare expenses incurred can be reimbursed immediately or upon your return to your home country.

You must apply for the EHIC through your health insurance provider before your departure. The EHIC is free of charge and valid for one calendar year (or longer, depending on your country of origin).

Since Social Security doesn't cover all medical expenses (it typically covers up to 70% of your healthcare costs), it's recommended to enroll in a student mutual insurance scheme (also known as top-up insurance). Additionally, remember to select a primary care physician (referred to as a referring doctor of your choice) and register them with your Social Security provider.

FOR NON-EU STUDENTS

Once you've enrolled at URCA, it's essential to register with Social Security immediately. This registration is both mandatory and free of charge, allowing you to receive reimbursement for your health expenses.

 To sign up for student social security : <https://etudiant-etranger.ameli.fr/#/>

After completing the registration, make sure to save the temporary social security number provided by the website and download your provisional Social Security registration confirmation. You can submit any missing supporting documents in your personal area. Once your registration is validated by your Caisse Primaire d'Assurance Maladie or CPAM (Primary Health Insurance Fund), you can download the final confirmation of your Social Security registration (confirmation of your rights).

If you have not been able to register online, call 36 46 (service €0.06/min + price of a call). If necessary, a call advisor will answer you in English.

> THE MUTUAL INSURANCE FUND

A mutual or supplementary health insurance fund will cover some or all of the remaining costs after Social Security reimbursement for medical fees. Special student offers are available for around €120 per year. You can obtain supplementary health insurance from student mutual insurance organizations or certain banks that often provide mutual insurance policies:

 MGEL : www.mgel.fr

 LMDE : www.lmde.fr

> CARTE VITALE

Non-European students registered with the Caisse Primaire d'Assurance Maladie (CPAM) can apply for a «Carte Vitale.» You must present it to healthcare professionals each time you visit to facilitate quick refunds.

If you haven't received your Carte Vitale yet, you should bring a temporary certificate to the doctor for reimbursement after a medical examination or pharmacy purchase. Initially, you'll need to pay for the consultation and then submit the treatment form to both your CPAM and your mutual insurance fund.

MEDICAL CONSULTATIONS

In France, medical consultations are free. You can choose the general practitioner or specialist you prefer. You can find a list of doctors, dentists, etc., along with their contact information, at URCA's infirmary, pharmacies, in the telephone directory, or on the website.

 www.pagesjaunes.fr

 When scheduling an appointment, it's important to inquire whether the doctor participates in the Social Security scheme. If the doctor you select isn't part of the scheme and doesn't have a fixed fee, you might end up paying additional charges that aren't covered by Social Security.

You will find the rates used by doctors below:

- Social-security approved doctors (fr. médecins conventionnés) ask for €25 for a consultation, and Social Security reimburses 70% (€15). Your mutual fund reimburses the rest. However, €1 must be paid by the patient.
- A consultation with social-security approved doctors with extra fees cost more than €25, and while Social Security always reimburses 70% (€15), the rest is reimbursed on the basis of the conditions of your mutual insurance and €1 remains the responsibility of the patient
- Visits to doctors who are not approved by social security (fr. médecins non conventionnés). are not reimbursed.

Rates are higher on weekends, on public holidays, at night and for home visits.

FOR EUROPEAN STUDENTS WHO HAVE THE EUROPEAN HEALTH INSURANCE CARD

When visiting the doctor, remember to bring your European Health Insurance Card. You'll need to pay for the consultation during your visit, but you'll be reimbursed in your home country with this document. Make sure to submit the completed prescription and receipts for any medicines purchased to your social security for reimbursement.

 Do not forget to keep the receipts!

If you wish to be reimbursed in France before your return, you'll need to visit the social security center with the medical expenses claim form, pharmacy receipts, and your European Health Insurance Card. Upon submission, you'll receive reimbursement based on the social security reimbursement rates applicable in your country.

> STUDENT SOCIAL SERVICE

> ER

You will have to pay the visit to the ER. Important! Hospital costs are higher.

BANK ACCOUNT

It's recommended to open a bank account as soon as you arrive if you plan to receive housing benefits and social security reimbursements. You can inquire with your bank in your home country if it has partnerships in France. This will streamline the process of opening an account in France, and transactions will be more convenient as transfers between affiliated foreign banks are often less expensive.

 It's recommended to compare the various services provided by banks. Some offer special deals (such as free or discounted bank cards, loyalty rewards, reimbursement of transportation subscriptions, etc.) tailored to students or individuals under 25 years old.

Upon opening your account, you'll receive a chequebook and a bank card.

Chequebooks are typically provided at no cost, unlike bank cards, which may incur an annual fee of €30 to €40 (although bank cards are often free for students).

Transferring funds between different French banks usually involves fees, except for online transfers, which typically range from €0.60 to €4. Alternatively, paying by cheque is a common method in France for purchases, rent, or bills.

If you spend more than your account balance, you'll incur overdraft fees, known as «agios,» which can be quite high. Additionally, withdrawing money from ATMs of other banks may not be free after a certain number of withdrawals

LA MAISON DES LANGUES

The Language Center, known as the Maison des Langues, combines the CEREL (Resource Center and Language Departments) with the CIEF (International Center for French Studies). Its goal is to foster and advance language learning at URCA.

- The primary role of the CIEF is to provide linguistic and cultural preparation for non-French-speaking students, facilitating their integration into the educational programs offered by various departments (faculties, institutes, schools) of the University. Additionally, it caters to internationally mobile students and offers training in French for all staff seeking language instruction. The CIEF is situated on the Moulin de la Housse campus (Faculty of Sciences) in Building 5ter.

> CHARLEVILLE-MÉZIÈRES

The renowned puppet capital, Charleville-Mézières, is remarkable for its Place Ducale and Italian-inspired architecture. This central square, considered the counterpart of Place des Vosges in Paris, is located in the Mézières district. The allure of the Notre-Dame d'Espérance basilica, characterized by its flamboyant Gothic and Renaissance style, is accentuated by the quaint surrounding streets. The Museum of the Ardennes houses unique collections of archaeology and history, while the Rimbaud Museum, situated on the île du Vieux Moulin in Charleville, commemorates the legacy of the renowned poet.

GOING OUT IN THE REGION

> HERITAGE

The former Champagne-Ardenne region offers a wealth of culture and history. With over 200 km of champagne cellars beneath Reims and Épernay, historic towns, and imposing fortresses, the region is steeped in France's past.

Troyes showcases its medieval charm with 16th-century timber-framed houses and pastel-colored facades. Meanwhile, the Château de Sedan, Château de Réveillon (host to notable figures like Alexander Dumas and Marcel Proust), and Château de Cirey-sur-Blaise (a retreat for Voltaire and friends) beckon history enthusiasts.

Outdoor enthusiasts can explore the Ardennes mountain range, the forests of Argonne, Meuse valley, and Der lake with numerous hiking and biking trails. The Regional Nature Park of the Mountains of Reims, nestled between Épernay and Reims, offers scenic vineyards and villages perfect for leisurely hikes.

GASTRONOMY

The Champagne-Ardenne is proud of its culinary heritage and especially its sparkling wine, which is famous worldwide: Champagne.

The pink biscuits of Reims go perfectly with this prestigious drink. Other culinary offerings in the region: (non-exhaustive list)

The legal situation for hiring students varies depending on where they come from.

1/ If you have a student residence permit, you can get paid employment on an ancillary basis during your studies in France. Your employer must declare your recruitment to the prefecture. N.B the student residence permit does not allow you to be an auto-entrepreneur.

> EATING HABITS IN BRASSERIES AND RESTAURANTS

In French restaurants and brasseries, a waiter will typically escort you to your table. You can request a jug of tap water, which is complimentary. While service is included in the bill, it's customary to leave a tip.

> OPENING HOURS OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

In France, public institutions, banks, pharmacies and small shops close between noon and approximately 2:00 p.m. (except in large cities).

> SAYING HELLO IN FRANCE

In France, there are two common ways to greet someone: shaking hands or kissing on the cheek. Kissing on the cheek is typically reserved for acquaintances or those you know well. When kissing on the cheek, you simply offer your cheek without actually giving a full kiss, even if you're fond of the person. In Reims, for instance, it's customary to exchange two kisses, but in some other regions of France, it may be three or four.

> SUPERMARKETS AND MARKETS

There are several types of shops where you can do your shopping. Prices and opening times differ depending on the shop.

- Low-cost food shops,
- Medium-sized food shops,
- Hyper and supermarkets (also called «grandes surfaces») are located outside the city.

Shops are generally open from Monday to Saturday; some open on Sunday and smaller shops may close at noon.

Sales are twice a year, in January and July.

To buy fruit and vegetables from local producers, consider going to markets (every day in a different neighborhood).

> THE MARKETS IN REIMS

- Monday: Saint-Thomas market (avenue de Laon)
- Tuesday: Saint-Remi market (rue Simon) and Europe market (Place Jean Moulin)
- Wednesday: Boulingrin market, Châtillons market (Argonautes) and Croix du Sud market (Croix-Rouge)
- Thursday: Carteret market (Boulevard Carteret) and Place Luton market

- Saturday: Boulingrin market and Billard market (rue du Dr Billard)
- Sunday: Jean Jaurès market (avenue Jean Jaurès) and Sainte Anne market (rue de Louvois)

 Markets are generally open from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

> LAUNDRIES

University halls of residence are equipped with washing machines and dryers.

Near the Sciences Po College, Esplanade Fléchambault (Saint-Rémi district)

 Average cost of a wash (5 kg): €3, and a €1.50 for a dry.

> MOBILE PHONE

To have a French number, you must buy a laptop which is compatible with a French network and a SIM card which will cost you approximately €30 including €10 of credit to send messages and make calls. Cards for mobile phones are available for €5, 10, 15, 25 and 50.

 The validity of credit is limited depending on the card value (for example, you can use a €5 card for 7 days, but after 7 days the remaining credit is eliminated).

For those who stay for 6 months or more, it might be good value to take out a subscription with a telephone operator. The «blocked account» formula stops you from consuming more than your subscription. For all information, you can contact the speciality shops.
